Introduction.

A DESIRE to know the source from whence we came appears to be inherent in our natures at least with some of us. A disposition to perpetuate the names and characteristics of our ancestors is common to all stages of civilization. "Honor thy father and thy mother is the first command with promise." To enable us to know who were our fathers and mothers of the past generations is the object of this effort. The American people pay but little attention to family records. There are but few people who can trace their ancestors beyond their grand parents. Yet some have a desire to know from whence they came even if they are careless as to whither they are going. While some of us might be but little benefited by knowing what our ancestors were, we are anxious to know who they were. The records of past generations are few and incomplete. The trustworthy traditions are much more numerous, but are known only to the older living ones, who, in turn, will soon pass from earth. These facts are, we trust, a sufficient apology for compiling this record while the material is obtainable. There are some things that can be done at the present time that cannot possibly be accomplished later on. Being desirous of obtaining an extended record of my people, I set about securing what I could of the Dillon family. It soon became apparent that they had become by marriage so intermingled with other families, particularly the Hodgsons, the Fishers and the Leonards, that to list them separately would not be at all practicable. I could learn of no systematic record of any of them, except the Hodgson record written by Eli and Zimri Hodgson some years ago. While older people were living it would have been an easy matter to have obtained the desired information to make a satisfactory record dating back farther than it is possible to do now. The older people are long since gone. None of them are left to tell the story. Now we are dependent upon the meagre family records and tradition for the desired information. We are induced to make this record of the Dillon, Fisher, Hodgson and Leonard families together: 1st, because of the relationship that exists; 2nd, because they were the pioneers of North Carolina, then of Ohio, afterwards of Indiana and Illinois. These four families were neighbors in North Carolina and Ohio. They afterwards determined to try their fortunes in what was then the unsettled and almost unknown far west making their homes where wild beasts and Indians were numerous, and the prairies sod unbroken, except by the tread of wild animals and the savages. It is to the pioneers that we wish to give our attention, especially to those that were the early settlers of Indiana and what is now known as Elm Grove and Dillon townships, in Tazewell county, Illinois. It is not our purpose to write their history or to give an elaborate account of their hardships and deprivations, of their pleas-tures and enjoyments, all of which were numerous. If, under the circumstances, we succeed in giving their genealogy in a reasonably intelligent manner, we will have accomplished our purpose.

The Hodgson family are of English descent. They went from England to Ireland and from there to America. One George Hodgson, number 1941 in this record, sailed with his parents from Ireland to America, and was at the landing the only survivor of the family, and only nine years of age. We are informed in the Hodgson record that he settled in Pennsylvania, from there he went to North Carolina, where he was married to Mary Thatcher and raised a large family. We know nothing more of his wife and but little of their children, except their fourth child, named John, number 1988, who married Mary Mills. It is from this union that we trace the Hodgson family. It is interesting to notice how often the children and grand children of John Hodgson, No. 1988, intermarried with the children and grand children of Daniel Dillon, No. 524.

The Dillon family we trace to one Luke Dillon, No. 694, who married Susan Garrett. They came from Ireland, first landing on the Nantucket Island, and from there to Virginia. They had four children so far as we know. Their descendants drifted from Virginia first to North Carolina, then to Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, and some of them can now be found in nearly every state in the Union. One of them, named Daniel, No. 524, married a woman, named Lydia, No. 701, whose maiden name is unknown. It is to this couple that the genealogy of so many of the relatives in this record is traced. It was their descendants who intermarried so much with these other families, especially the Hodgson family.

We trace the Fisher family to Daniel Fisher, No. 1016. We know nothing of his wife or what her name was, but give in this record a list of their children, who nearly all lived many years in Indiana. One of this family, Moleston Fisher, No. 1212, married Susanna Moon, No. 3273, and Mary Pilcher, No. 3434. He raised a large family and died near Huntington, Ind., in 1863; where he had resided many years. The most of Moleston Fisher's family lived in Indiana, and near the old homestead, but four sons, James, Isaac, Daniel and Jesse, moved from Ohio to Illinois in 1829 and 1830, and located in Elm Grove township, Tazewell county, where they spent their remaining days, except Isaac, who lived a few years in Woodford county, Illinois.

We trace the Leonard family to one Ezekiel Leonard, No. 2589, who married Rebecca Hodgson, No. 2150, a daughter of Thomas Hodgson, No. 2188, and Patience Dillon Hodgson, No. 760. We first knew of Ezekiel Leonard in Virginia, then in North Carolina, afterwards in Ohio, where he remained until he emigrated with others to Elm Grove township, Tazewell county, Ill., about 1830, where he spent the remainder of his life.

When we realize that the names in this record have been secured in many various ways, it would be surprising indeed if there were no errors. It could not be otherwise in such a list of more than 5,000 names so promiscuously collected. There are some names received too late to be entered in the main list alphabetically, with numbers affixed, but some of them appear as children without numbers. While there are some names omitted unintentionally that should have been included, some that were received too late, some that could not be made out intelligently and others where we had different lists of the same family that were different or contradictory. Yet we congratulate ourselves in being able to obtain so large a number under such unfavorable circumstances. We are under many obligations to these friends who have assisted us so much in this work and have manifested so much interest and were so prompt in their replies to our inquiries. Without their assistance success would have been impossible. We ask pardon for all errors and assure our friends that we have done the best we could to make a correct record. We request that each one report whatever errors he may detect. A note will be made of them that may be of benefit to some one in the future.

NOTE.

By observing the following suggestions it will not be difficult to ascertain the relationship that exists with these various families: At the left of each page will be found the names of persons that are related by birth to some or all of these families. Each name will have a fixed number which will accompany that name wherever it occurs. The postoffice address and date of birth or death wherever known is also given. Then comes the names of the parents, followed by the name of the person to whom married, with date of marriage if known. Next comes the names of the children of this union. The dates of birth will be designated by the letter b, the dates of death by d, the names of person to whom married by m, the names of children by ch. The names of persons that are related by marriage only have no numbers attached.

HOW TO READ THIS RECORD.

For Example—Take 693 Dillon, Luke.

693 Dillon, Luke, b (born) 5-13, 1790, d (died) 8-4, 1852 to (born to) Jesse Dillon 644, Hannah Ruckman; m (married) 3-11, 1813 Charity Wright, ch (children) Naomi 742, James W 638, Hannah 597, William 814, Jonathan 665, Sarah 790; 2nd m (second marriage to) Sarah Heyworth 3-8, 1848, ch (children) Ruth 782, Jesse 647, John L 659, George 587.

How to trace the Ancestors of Luke Dillon 693.

Turn to 693. Luke Dillon's father was Jesse Dillon 644. Turn to number 644.

Jesse Dillon 644 was a son of Daniel Dillon 524. Turn to No. 524.

Daniel Dillon 524 was a son of Luke Dillon 694. Turn to No. 694.

Luke Dillon 694 is the first known ancestor of the American branch of the Dillon family.

From this we see that Jesse Dillon 644 was the father; Daniel Dillon 524 was the grandfather, and Luke Dillon 694 the great-grandfather of Luke Dillon 693, whose ancestors we wanted to find.

A Psalm of Life

Tell me not, in mournful numbers,
Life is but an empty dream !—
For the soul is dead that slumbers,
And things are not what they seem.

Life is real ! Life is earnest !
And the grave is not its goal ;
Dust thou art, to dust returnest,
Was not spoken of the soul.

Art is long, and Time is fleeting,
And our hearts, though stout and brave,
Still, like muffled drums, are beating
Funeral warches to the grave.

Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime,
And, departing, leave behind us
Footprints on the sands of time.
